

SWIMMING RULES FOR SUMMER MADE

Brunner Divides Week Equally for Sexes.

90 MINUTES MAXIMUM TIME

Sundays Are Allotted to Adults of Known Age.

The summer swimming schedule at the bathing beach has been put into operation. Superintendent W. J. Brunner announced yesterday that from now on women and girls only will be permitted to swim at the beach on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Saturdays, and men and boys only on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Mixed bathing for adults only will be permitted on Sundays. The hours during which the beach will be open are from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

According to Dr. Brunner, only 150 persons will be permitted in the water at any one time, and no one may remain in the pools longer than an hour and a half. The schedule is so arranged that one may gain access to the dressing rooms and swimming pools without being compelled to wait until the pools are cleared of any one group which has preceded.

"We have so planned it," said Mr. Brunner, "that no person can stay in more than an hour and a half, and that there will be no confusion and waiting around. If anyone fails to obey the rule as to leaving the pool within an hour and a half from the time he enters, his clothing will be removed from his locker and another person assigned to the locker."

Only women over eighteen and men over twenty-one will be permitted to indulge in mixed bathing at the beach on Sundays. Young men who are suspected of being under twenty-one will be asked to show their certificates of war registration before being allowed to enter.

Women will not be permitted to remove their rubber caps until after they have left the enclosure surrounding the pools.

Personnel of the life saving corps at the beach is C. W. Hicks, head life guard; W. J. Cusack, John Bhugru, Mathew Donohue, and L. W. Call.

LANSTON PETITION DENIED

Court Suspects Both Parties Are Seeking Divorce.

The petition of Mrs. Ethel V. Lanston for an absolute divorce from Aubrey Lanston, writer and traveler, has been thrown out of court by Justice Stafford, of the District Supreme Court, who said he believed the separation was being sought by both parties. The ruling was made by the justice late yesterday, after Mrs. Lanston had concluded her testimony. She said her husband had left her and gone to New York city two years ago, and that he had there been too much in the company of other women, particularly a Belgian tea girl. The Lanstons were married in this city seven years ago and have two children.

BRUEN HOME KIDDIES ON A JOYOUS OUTING

Sixty Children From Institution Guests at Grosvenor Place.

Sixty "kiddies" of the Bruen Home for Children are the guests today of the Twentieth Century Club, at a picnic and entertainment at the country home of Mrs. Gilbert H. Grosvenor, Bethesda, Md. A special car, donated by the Washington Railway and Electric Company, conveyed the children to the picnic grounds this morning at 11 o'clock.

A tag day will be held tomorrow for the benefit of the home. Women of the board of directors, assisted by girls, will sell tags in department stores and city markets. Support of the home is dependent entirely upon voluntary contributions.

Because of the high price of food-stuffs, the home has been forced to reduce the number of children it harbors from 100 to 60. Unless liberal contributions are received this summer, this number will be further reduced in the fall.

Gifts of seed potatoes for the gardens, which have been donated by the Twentieth Century Club, will be thankfully received by Mrs. Hoyt Gale, 2802 Jocelyn street, Chevy Chase.

The committee in charge of the picnic is composed of Mrs. Grosvenor, Mrs. Gale, Mrs. George R. Putnam, and Mrs. Henry Graves.

PUTS BANKER ON RATIONS

Mrs. Vanderlip Adopts Plan to Buy Liberty Bonds.

Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank of New York, is living on a ration basis.

Mrs. Vanderlip reported to the women's Liberty loan committee yesterday that the ration plan she has inaugurated in her household has resulted in a considerable saving which she is investing in Liberty bonds in the names of her servants.

SANITARY TROOP SEEKS RECRUITS

Organizes Parade to Stir Interest in Corps.

TO MARCH FROM FORT MYER

Two New Troops of Cavalry Needed to Complete Squadron.

A parade for the purpose of interesting Washington young men in the sanitary troop of the Third Regiment, District national guard, will pass through the streets of Washington tomorrow afternoon.

The parade will be headed by Major Charles R. Luce, chief medical officer of the regiment. In the line will be the entire personnel and equipment of the sanitary troop, consisting of ten mounted men, litter bearers, an ambulance, combat wagon, pack mules and a number of men carrying first aid packs. Four unmounted horses, for which Major Luce wants riders, will be included in the parade.

The line of march will be from Fort Myer to Fifteenth and F streets, east on F to Seventh, south to Pennsylvania avenue, west to Fort Myer.

Needs Nine Men.

In the hope of getting the nine necessary men to fill the ranks of the sanitary troop, Major Luce will station Dr. Lyle C. White, of the District guard medical corps at 1327 F street next Monday. Dr. White will make immediate physical examinations of prospective recruits who present themselves there.

Major Luce says many opportunities for rapid promotion are open in the sanitary troop, all of the sergeants in the command having been discharged because of having dependent relatives. The sanitary troop made an enviable record for itself on the Mexican border. It was at full war strength, twenty-four men, when it returned from the Southwest, but because of discharges and the increasing of its quota by the War Department to thirty-three men, nine recruits are now needed to bring it to war complement.

A big drive to recruit up two new troops of cavalry, which, with Troops A and B, will compose a squadron, will be made next week. Recruits will be signed up at 1327 F street northwest. They will be enlisted only for the period of the war.

As the cavalry is one of the fascinating branches of the fighting forces, the officers in charge of the recruiting campaign believe they can get the necessary 210 men before the local cavalry is ordered to a concentration camp or to join an overseas expeditionary force.

Jones Gets Commission.

E. Lester Jones, head of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, who recently enlisted in Troop B, and was made a sergeant, yesterday received a commission as a lieutenant in that command. It is understood he will be assigned to Troop C as soon as that organization is recruited.

Troop A, commanded by Capt. James Washburn, and Troop B, commanded by Capt. Leroy Heron, now have 106 men each, which is maximum war strength. Both troops in the parade yesterday made a most favorable impression on the crowds.

Members of the First Company Coast Artillery of the local guard, who recently returned from a week's stay at the Congress Heights rifle range, will go to Fort Washington Sunday morning for practice with the big coast defense guns there.

To Spend Day at the Gun.

The company will assemble at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The entire day will be spent in handling the guns and receiving instructions from the officers at the fort. The guardsmen will leave Fort Washington after supper and return to the National Capital.

The following men have recently joined the Coast Artillery Company: Arthur L. Fitzgibbon, Donald N. Rich, Ivan E. Carpenter, Philip B. Herbert, John C. Donohue, Ralph W. Taiter, Lester F. Kirchner, and Carl M. Edmondston.

"NIX" FOR NON-REGISTERED

Bartenders Have New Method of Conserving Minor's Thirst.

"Virtue has its own reward," says the copybook, and the bartender adds:

"If you didn't register you can't irrigate."

That is, if you're youthful enough in appearance to engage the critical attention of the bartender. The procedure is simple. Presentation of a certificate of registration under the conscription law is all that is necessary to convince the vendor of liquid comfort that the would-be purchaser has attained the age of discretion, or something like that.

Last night in a downtown establishment a youth attempted to get a drink. The bartender refused to sell him anything and asked his age. The young man asserted he was twenty-one, whereupon the quick-witted bartender called a policeman, who demanded an exhibition of a war registration certificate. The boy failed to produce one, and was forced to admit he is a Central High School student and only seventeen years old.

The Neglected Wife

is more than a name to most of the population of this country. She is a friend, charming, interesting, lovable. As the heroine of Pathe's big successful serials "Who Pays?" and "The Red Circle," she added to a reputation already noteworthy, she became to many photoplay lovers their one, their chosen favorite. In she appears at her best. To the role of the other woman she brings a sympathy and an understanding that will make the part live in your memory.

Presented by Pathe—Showing Now!

Treason's Twilight Zone

Aid and comfort to our German enemy assume a peculiarly insidious and subtle form, as we are warned by leading papers in various parts of the country, by the attempts of certain journals to confuse the minds of the American people about our motives in entering the war, and to implant seeds of suspicion and distrust concerning our Allies.

On this subject the Chicago Herald very clearly and strongly says, "It's about time for the ham-stringers that are lurking in the tall grass and the saboteurs who are trying to throw monkey-wrenches into the war machinery, to shut off and up or look for unpleasant consequences."

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for June 9th, the leading article discusses from all angles this kind of German propaganda which the St. Louis Post-Dispatch notes is found not so much in the German-language press, as in certain English-language newspapers in German communities.

This is only one article among many which will be of unusual interest to the American reading public. Other topics are:

A Mental Tonic That Ensures Breadth of Vision

Even the best and most broad-minded of us, if we live constantly in one place, meet the same people, and pursue the same round of daily duties and pleasures, are apt to become parochial, to miss the wide sweep of the winds of thought and progress that blow about the earth. Thus situated, we need some mental tonic, some invigorating stimulus from without to bring us into harmony with the onward march of events. And such a tonic, such a vitalizing stimulus every one of us may obtain in THE LITERARY DIGEST, which clarifies one's news-impressions, corrects one's world-perspective, and gradually develops in one's mind a sane philosophy of current history. It gives you the news of all countries on all subjects, impartially and interestingly, and indulges in no personal preachments. Clean, sane, and clear-visioned, it puts you in weekly touch with the throbbing life of the world. Make trial of it today.
